

Best Aquaculture Practices Certification

Why Sell BAP?

Best Aquaculture Practices (BAP) is the world's most comprehensive third-party aquaculture certification program.

The BAP standards encompass environmental sustainability and also social responsibility, food safety, animal health and welfare, and traceability. BAP is the only third-party certification program covering the entire farmed seafood value chain — hatcheries, farms, processing plants and feed mills.

Buying farmed seafood from a BAP-certified facility provides documented third-party assurance to support your sustainable seafood sourcing practices and to answer consumer demand for seafood raised and processed with great care in a safe, responsible manner. The complete “one-stop” BAP product logo is fast becoming a must-have third-party certification mark.

Make the responsible seafood choice.

Source your farmed seafood from a BAP-certified aquaculture facility.

“We absolutely support and look for the BAP as the primary certification for aquaculture.”

“Through the use of BAP we are able to demonstrate with confidence to our customers and stakeholders the credentials in our seafood supply chains.”
